

To our valued customers and industry partners:

In response to the COVID-19 pandemic, Controlled Power Company employees are following all CDC, federal, and state best-practices regarding hand-washing, facility and workspace disinfection, and social distancing. Our top priority is the health and safety of our employees, customers, industry partners, families, and our communities.

Controlled Power Company is considered an “essential business” to the medical supply chain, as well as to “critical manufacturing” and “critical infrastructure” organizations which have designated Controlled Power Company as a key supplier, enabling those organizations to perform essential health and safety services.

From the time COVID-19 affected our society, Controlled Power Company has remained open for business ... new product sales, as well as supporting our customers with their existing CPC products. We continue to deliver the highest quality electrical power solutions and the exceptional service and support that you require! Feel free to contact us through our website or by phone!

As the future unfolds, we remain steadfast in our commitment to serving you.

Thank you for your trust in Controlled Power Company.
